Tips & Hints Royal Dress

1 Thanks to the HUSQVARNA VIKING® deLuxe™ Stitch System you can embroider with challenging specialty threads and get a wonderful result! The DESIGNER DIAMOND Royale™ Dress is embroidered with different kinds of embroidery threads, such as rayon, metallic and sliver thread on the beautiful satin, velvet and organza.

2 When embroidering on a large train, like on the Royal dress, it helps to print out and place paper templates of the embroideries to make sure you will get a nice flow in the embroideries. Use the Design Positioning feature to match your embroidery designs perfectly every time. Start by making lower embroidery on the skirt (design number 001) in the DESIGNER™ Royal Hoop. Once you're ready, re-hoop, mirror image design side to side and use Design Positioning to meet up perfectly! Read more about how to use the Design Positioning feature in the DESIGNER DIAMOND Royale™ User's Guide.

3 The best way to achieve perfect results when hemming light weight fabrics such as organza or chiffon, is to press in approx. 1 cm ($\frac{3}{8}$ "). Sew the pressed hem with a zig-zag stitch, adjusting both the stitch length and width to 2. Cut away the excess fabric close to the stitching on the wrong side of the fabric. This was the technique used for the organza on the back of the dress.

When embroidering on delicate fabric such as velvet, the nap could be damaged by the hooping. There are different ways of solving this. You could use a sticky stabilizer such as INSPIRA "Light & Tacky Tear-a-Way™" stabilizer (620115396), hoop the stabilizer and add the velvet with or without a basting stitch. Another brand new accessory is the Metal Hoop. With this hoop you just add the same type of stabilizer underneath the hoop and lay the velvet on top. You will also get a set of magnets for keeping the excess fabric away. The hoop is also extremely flat and so easy to slide under the presser foot. For a nice tailored finish on your dress you can add a piping on the edges of your dress. We did it both on the sleeves and the hem. There are several piping feet in the HUSQVARNA VIKING® assortment, from mini- to mega piping choose the one that suits your needs.

To easily insert an invisible zipper, use the Invisible zipper foot. It comes in two versions; metal (412687045) and plastic (413286545).
